

ABSTRACT

A graphite capsule/vessel for producing boron nitride. The vessel has a cross-sectional area that allows reaction contents to be uniformly heated in order to yield boron nitride in a uniform consistency of crystallinity and purity and allows the reaction gaseous products to readily evolve.